

Stranger in a Strange Land!
Hebrews 11:7ff.

As we act in faith there is a relationship between our faith and our righteousness.

Righteousness is the justice and the holiness and wisdom that is completely God's.

Acting in faith increases the ease of our moral and ethical behavior, namely, our holiness.

Having faith for something launches us into faith for something greater than what we have faith for in the first place.

Faith supersedes the hope that this world offers us so that we hope in God.

Faith is the evidence of a subjective hope becoming an objective reality by the power of God.
