

What Neighbor?
Luke 10:25ff.

The great commandment does not require that I identify who my neighbor is. It requires I identify myself as a neighbor.

The entirety of my love for others is the measure of the entirety of my love for God.

Being a neighbor means loving another unconditionally such that both of us are pointed to the character of God.

Being a neighbor is sacrificial; it costs me.

The face of a neighbor is mercy!