

An Appetite for the Impossible?

Matt 5:38-47

Biblically, an enemy is someone who seeks and takes pleasure in my harm or even destruction.

Some enemies are spiritual and some physical. The two are yoked together.

“We must love our enemies because love carries within it a redemptive power.” Martin Luther King

Loving your enemy is not a mere moral commandment. It is spiritual warfare.

In trying to destroy evil by aggression we bear the jeopardy of becoming the evil we seek to destroy.

Passivity is only effective when it is aggressive love.

Love won't allow us to be chained to the hatred of another.
